THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY. Movements of the Enemy-The Potomac not yet Crossed-The Fighting and Inci-

[Correspondence of the Chronicle.]

BALTIMORE. July 28.—The latest advices from Harper's Ferry, at 130 p. m., state that all was quiet there. No rebels were to be found this side of the river, nor had any demonstrations been made to cross at any of the lower fords, all of which were guarded. There were no rebels north of the Baltimore and Ohio rail-

Gen. Wright's headquarters were at Monocacy at noon, and the line of his forces was extended from that point nearly to Edwards' Ferry. The fords above were not guarded, and yet there had been no appearance of the enemy in the vicinity of Shepherdstown or Sharpsburg. From these and other indications, showing that they do not court a confliet, the general conviction among our troops was that they had no intention of crossing the river at all.

Immediately after they had driven General Crook, they recommended the harvesting in which they had been engaged before their collision with that officer. Our lines were last night (Wednesday) all on the north side of the river. General Hunter issued orders to General Wright to remain in his present posi-Gen. Crook assumed command of the troops to-day, and shortly after orders were issued to recross the river.

The different estimates of the rebel forces which the investigations of the scouts of the commands of Hunter and Wright have in-duced, confirm the statement of our previous letter. The general impression being that they do not number 50,100. It was rumored at the terry that Gen. Grant had telegraphed to Gen. Hunter to hold Maryland Heights at all hazard, and that he would be amply reinforced in

The movements of Gen. Wright, under the order of to-day, it was expected. would be in sdvance of those of Crook's forces. The latter General was believed to have determined to attempt to compel the rebels to abandon their harvesting in the Valley of the Shenandoah. It was expected, in view of this determination, and of the fact that marching orders had been ordered, that a collision would take place tomorrow. A considerable portion were reclothed and otherwise reprovisioned to-day. The men, shough much worn, were in better spirits than for several days past. They are anxious to do all in their power towards cutting off the raiders, but do not express very sanguine hopes of success in such purpose.

The officers of Hunter's command, who have recently passed through the Valley of the Shenandoah, state that the crops there are very abundant, and that success in harvesting and conveying away even a fair proportion of them would fully repay the enemy for all the toil and losses of their present expedition. Our losses in the fight at Winchester, they say, did not amount to one thousand, though there was a large number of the troops who were so much worn by the fight, in addition to their previous privations and hardships, that they were not in efficient fighting or even retreating condition. The command of Crook (late Hunter's) is, however, still formidable enough, with such accessions as they are sure to have in a few days, fully to cope with the rebels, if they succeed in keeping them within reach. Of the circumstances of Mulligan's casualty, we learn that he was wounded while gallantly charging at the head of his brigade. He was hit twice-once in the shoulder and again in the thigh-and fell from his horse. Though completely overpowered, his troops rallied around him and endeavored to save both him and the colors. While a squad of them were carrying him off the field, the rebels charged upon them, and finding that they could not earry off both him and the colors, Mulligan twice ordered them to leave him and save the colors. Finally they obeyed the first part of other part of it; but they had delayed too long. They were surrounded and both the Colonel and their colors captured. It was feared that he had died from the effects of his wounds, which were known to be very severe. To-day flag of truce went out to the enemy's lines. eccompanied by Mrs. Mulligan, to get his body.

The order of General Hunter, issued a few days ago, that all the secessionists of Frederick should be sent south of the lines, was today being enforced. Later.

BALTIMORE, July 28-11 p. m .- Martinsburg is supposed to have been evacuated to-day by the enemy, Lieut. Nugent, 34th Ohio, was killed while endeavoring, on Sunday, to carry from the field Colonei Mulligan. Lieut. Bains, 161st Ohio, was drowned to-day in the Monocacy. General Hunter still commands the Department of Virginia; General Crook, the troops in the field.

The enemy are believed to be falling back, preparatory to an advance in another direction. Our forces are moving in pursuit. The bridge over Black creek, on the Ohio and Baltimore railroad, has been burned. No other damage. F. E. F.

CLIPTON, ON THE HEIGHTS OF GEORGE-TOWN, will be sold on the lettr of August next, by J. J. McGuire & Co., Auctioneers.

I am now authorized by a decree of the Supreme Court of this District to sell this beautiful residence of the late Col. Ellet, and the same will positively be sold at auction on TUESDAY, the leth day of August next, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises. For the information of those who may not be familiar with Clifton, but who may desire an attractive suburban residence, comon the premises. For the information of those who may not be familiar with Clifton, but who may desire an attractive suburban residence, combining the advantages of city and country life, I state that it is situated in the centre of the healthful and celebrated Beights of Georgetown, and contains about forty five acres of land, highly improved by the late propietor, and planted by him, within the last six or seven years, with the choicest fruit and ornamental trees, having an excellent dwelling beuse of nine or ten roome, an overseer's cottage detached, large barn, stables, carriage-honse, and other appropriate out buildings, with good fences, nearly all of them new. It is surrounded by the splendid residences of Tudor Place, of Gen. Halleck, Mrs. Boyce, Mrs. Barber, B. M. Linthicum, Esq., and others, and adjains on the north the grounds attached to the residences of Mr. Linthicum and Mrs. Boyce, and is elevated commanding a view of all of them, as well as of the picturesque valley of Rock Creek, the city of Washington, the fleights of Arlington, and the Potomac river. The view of the city of Washington, across the valley of Rock Creek, is exceedingly beautiful. It is within twenty minutes' walk, over a brick pavement three-fourths of the distance, of the railroad street cars running from Georgetown to Washington. For salubrity, neighborhood, access to tswn and city, and beauty of situation it is unsurpassed.

Purchasers are invited to view it.

The terms of sale, as prescribed by the court, are one-third of the purchase money in cash, and the residue at six, welve, eighteen and twenty four months from the day of sale, to be secured by the purchaser's bonds, with surety, bearing interest from the day of sale, and a lien on the premises, and with power of resale in default of payment of any of the deferred payments.

Title perfect. It has passed under my own examination professionally, several times within the last/erty-five years, on change of ownership.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country and darling of his parents, should be snatched from all the prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviation from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating MARRIAGE MARRIAGE reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness indeed. Without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prespect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflections that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

when the insignified and improdent votary or pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those whe, from education and respectability can alone befriend him. He falls into the hands of ignorant and designing pretenders, who, incapable of curing, filch his pecuniary substance, keep bim trifling month after month, or as long as the smallest fee can be obtained, and in despair leave him with ruined health to sigh over his galling disappointment; or, by the use of that deadly poison. Mercary, hasten the constitutional symptoms of this terrible disease, such as Affections of the Head, Throat, Nose, Skin, etc., progressing with frightful rapidity until death puts an end to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to that updiscovered country from whose bourne no travelor returns.
